BELMONT — The last Farmer's Market of the summer season will be held in Belmont this Sunday, Sept. 20.

Markets are held at the Tioga Pavilion on Mill St. from 9:30 am to 12:30 pm.

Take advantage of the wonderful vendors by starting your Christmas shopping early. Buy local products and help our local economy while having the pleasure to meet directly with the people that are making such wonderful products as goat's milk soaps, fabulous jellies, quality built birdhouses, fragrant air fresheners, homemade lip balms, and other great products.

If the weather is bright, they will also feature a woodturning demonstration under the pavilion.

Grab a cup of coffee, listen to the live music, and chat with friends. Tables of yummy bakery items are available for purchase while they last. A wide variety of seasonal vegetables will also be available. Come early for the best selection.

Feedback on the summer Farmer's Markets and/or questions can be directed to Gretta Olson-Wilder, special events coordinator, at events@belmontnh.org or call 998-3525.
