

The Citizen^{of} Laconia

The voice of New Hampshire's Lakes Region

2012-06-09 / History

Dr. Brody opens Laconia office

LACONIA — Dr. Nathan Brody had “joined the ranks of Laconia physicians,” when he opened an office in the Harriman Block, The Citizen reported, 75 years ago.

He had “been practicing in Belmont for the past two and a half years during which time he has been doing special work on cancer two mornings each week at the New England Medical Center at Boston.”

Dr. Brody announced that “although he will hold regular office hours in this city he will continue his work at Belmont and maintain his residence there.”

NO MORE EXCUSES
SUBMIT YOUR HOMEWORK
ONLINE!!

CLICK
HERE

The doctor “is a graduate of Tufts Medical school, class of 1933, and came directly to Belmont after internship for one and a half years at the Whidden Memorial hospital at Everett, Mass.”

He “is an associate member of the medical staff of the Laconia hospital, examiner for several insurance companies and school physician.”

Both Dr. and Mrs. Brody came originally from Malden, Mass. They have a young son, Spencer John, who is fourteen months old.”

Return to top